

Module 8 Rationale

In fact, I am going to put all of my module works into three folders. The first folder should be named as “pdf” file, because I have finished uploading a great number of rationales or analysis based on my portfolio in “pdf” format. This segment also takes up a big percent of my previous module assignments. I think that the second folder ought to be the pictures, and I named it “img.” In this folder, it contains all of the pictures I utilized in this semester. It is very easy to find which image is the right one which I am seeking for. For the third folder, I want to name it as “psd,” the reason is that the “Photoshop” tool is another essential work for us up to now, so I hope to arrange all “psd” designing to this folder. I think that the core meaning of building up a folder is to put all of my assignments together, and it is very effective to look up in the most effective way. For me, the three folders I organized should be able to help me to achieve this goal.
